

Alexandra Fragoudaki

Assistant Professor at the Department of Business Studies.

Has a B.A in Economics from the University of Athens, MSc in Business Studies from the Scottish Business School, University of Edinburgh and a PhD in Air Transport Management from Westminster University, London.

Has been involved in teaching, research and consultancy of Air Transport and Services Marketing for over 25 years.

In addition, has worked in the private sector and Olympic Airways and was the CEO for the Training and Conference Center of the National Bank.

Teaching includes Transport Economics and Management, HRM, Services Marketing and Marketing Management in Greek and English both at under - and post graduate levels.