

Anastasios Magoutas is Professor of Applied Business Economics at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Department of Business Administration. Prior to his academic posting, he worked for ten years as an Administration Manager at the Greek Organization Against Drugs (OKANA). He holds a PhD in Applied Economics from the School of Social Science of the Hellenic Open University and a Master of Business Administration (MBA) from the University of Glamorgan in Wales. He has taught at the Athens University of Economics and Business, at the Hellenic Open University, and at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens both at graduate and post graduate level. His current research interests include Corporate Governance, International Business, Strategic Management, and Technological innovation.