

Dimitris Mitropoulos is an Assistant Professor at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens in the Department of Business Administration. Previously, he has been a Postdoctoral Researcher at the Department of Computer Science of Columbia University. Dimitris holds a PhD in Computer Security from the Athens University of Economics and Business and has been involved in several EU and US funded R&D projects. His research interests include software engineering, computer security and business analytics. He is a member of ACM, IEEE, SysSec, and an official writer for the ACM Computing Reviews journal.